Mr. Bryan continues to deal Mr. Cleveland some pretty severe blows. He now calls the ex-President a "bunco-steerer."

Mr. Carnegie gives $2,500,000 to the town of Dunfermline, Scotland, his birthplace. Wonder is no library figured in this donation.

Senator Gorman names as the leading issues of the next campaign "Tariff Revision, Economy and Honesty in Public Affairs."

"A hippodrome with spectacular features" is the way the Houston Daily Post refers to the late joint debate in Kansas between Senators Burton and Tillman.

It is said that seventeen negroes have been lynched in Illinois in the last ten years. Governor Yates and Mr. Hopkins should remember that the South is not the only section of the country that indulges in negro lynching.

Boss Platt was asked the other day what he thought of Senator Gorman as the Democratic candidate for President. He replied: "I should say he would make a very strong candidate." Gorman seems to have the inside track so far.

The salary of the new president of the big steel combine, William E. Corey, has been fixed at $75,000 a year. This amount is considerably less than Mr. Schwab received, but by practicing a little economy, it will enable Mr. Corey to keep the "wolf from the door."

A man is in Cooper Hospital, Camden, Pa., suffering from blood-poisoning which resulted from the sting of a mosquito. The physician attending him says it will be necessary to use every precaution to prevent the poison from permeating his entire system and resulting fatally.

Farmers throughout the State are very much discouraged at the prices received for their tobacco crop. The trust is responsible for the slump in prices. The Wilson Times says: "Tobacco that sold last season at from 20 to 35 cents is to-day bringing 12 cents, and stuff that brought last year 10 and 15 cents is to-day bringing 2 and 3 cents."

MERGER OF THE HOLT MILLS.

Closer Organization of Their Interests for the Purpose of Operating Upon a More Economical Basis.

Referring to the failure of the Fries cotton mill merger to materialize, the Charlotte Chronicle has this to say of a North Carolina merger:

"According to the information received by the Chronicle, the organization, for the present, at least, will be confined to North Carolina mills, and mills controlled by a single family, at that. It is said that the Holts, operating mills at Burlington, Fayetteville, and Wilmington, have the matter in hand, their object apparently being to form a closer combination or union of their own mills.

"It will be remembered that the different mills controlled by these gentlemen are now organized, under the name of Holts' Mills, for the purpose of selling the products of the various plants. An office is maintained in Worth street, New York, where samples of the goods made by the mills are kept, and where all orders are received. The following are the mills in this combination: The Alamance, Aurora, Carolina, Elmira, Glencoe, Lakeside, Windsor and E. M. Holt Plaid Mills, at Burlington; Holt-Morgan, Holt-Williamson and the Tolar-Hart and Holt Mills, at Fayetteville, and the Delgado Mills, at Wilmington. The principal officers of these mills are: Messrs. W. E., L. B., W. L., E. C., J. H. and W. I. Holt, and E. H., J. W. and L. B. Williamson.

"Several of the above named gentlemen held a meeting in Wilmington a few days ago, when the question of a merger of their interests was gone into fully and discussed at length. So far as known, the plans of these gentlemen do not contemplate taking in any other mills, and, for the reason, it is presumed that their idea is to effect a closer organization of their own interests for the purpose of operating on a more economical scale."

INSPECTING THE MACHINERY.

Mayor and Other Officials Making Ready for Street Improvement Again.

Mayor Springer, Alderman Jno. H. Sweeney, Capt. J. M. Woolard, superintendent of streets, and Mr. C. H Dock, the contractor, yesterday morning went out to the city rock quarry and made a careful inspection of the machinery there with a view of ascertaining the amount of repairs necessary under conditions of the agreement with Mr. Dock for the operation of the same. Mayor Springer will invite proposals at once for the repairs, so that the work may be completed as early as possible. The Mayor is allowing "no grass to grow under his feet" in the way of arranging for the resumption of the street improvement at the earliest possible movement.

The road roller in the City Hall yard is also being cleaned up by Mr. Jeff Chadwick with a view of getting the big machine "on its feet" again.

Clinton Tobacco Market.

A special to the Raleigh News and Observer, from Clinton says: "The tobacco market opened here to-day. Both warehouses were full. Price would not average above cost of housing and warehouse charges. A good many farmers say they are going to plow up the ungathered part of their crop as it will not pay them to house it. The American Tobacco trust is not getting much praise here to-day. Our town is full of mad farmers and business men, as they understand the cause of their woe."

FISHER SURVIVORS.

Arrangements About Completed Yesterday for Their Reunion Next Wednesday.

SUB-COMMITTEES NAMED.

Daughters of Confederacy and Cape Fear Camp, U. C. V., in Session Yesterday in Anticipation of Event. Registrar Appointed.

In anticipation of the reunion next Wednesday of the survivors of the memorable bombardment of Fort Fisher, at the mouth of the Cape Fear river, enthusiastic meetings of the committees of arrangements, the Daughters of the Confederacy and Cape Fear Camp of Veterans were held during yesterday and last night. The Daughters of the Confederacy met at 11 A. M. at the W. L. I. armory, the committees at 6 o'clock yesterday evening at the office of President McQueen, of the Murchison National Bank, and the Veterans at 8 o'clock last night at the armory. All the meetings were well attended and as a result of them the arrangements for the reunion are now well nigh complete. The railroads have given a very low rate and the number of visitors in attendance is expected to be quite large.

The Daughters of Confederacy meeting was taken up with arrangements for providing a lunch for the veterans at Carolina Beach upon the return of the party from the Fort early in the afternoon. Sub-committees were placed in charge of the various departments and as usual the ladies will be prepared to entertain the veterans in most charming and hospitable style.

The work of the committees of arrangements was reported by Commander Woodward at the meeting of the Camp last night, after the minutes and other routine business had been transacted. Col. Woodward gave an interesting review of the committees' doings and said that great interest and enthusiasm was being shown not only in Wilmington, but all over the State. He enlarged the committee from the Camp by appointing as members of the same Messrs. W. H. Green, C. W. Yates and J. Hal Boatwright.

A special committee on reception was appointed to consist of Messrs. H. C. McQueen, B. F. Hall and Col. Walker Taylor, commander of George Davis Camp, Sons of Veterans. In addition to that committee Lieut. Commander DeLeon Fillyaw was appointed chairman of a committee to meet trains and receive visitors at the A. C. L. station and Capt. R. M. McIntyre to be present at the S. A. L. depot for the same purpose.

Mr. J. Hal. Boatwright was made chairman of a committee on registration and information. Mr. Boatwright will attend at the W. L. I. armory on Tuesday and Wednesday, where registration of visitors will take place, information will be given out and tickets and badges supplied for the boat and lunch by the Daughters of Confederacy.

It was ordered that the veterans meet at the W. L. I. armory Wednesday at 8 A. M. and proceed to the steamer half an hour later, leaving at 9 o'clock. The return trip of the steamer will be in ample time to connect with the north-bound A. C. L. train. Those who remain in the city will be entertained Wednesday night in Pythian Castle Hall, over the Murchison National Bank, and at the W. L. I. armory.

After generally discussing the reunion, other business was taken up by the Camp. Upon report of the committee Messrs. C. W. Yates and J. W. Hawkins were elected to membership in the organization.

INTERESTING WINDOW DISPLAY.

Souvenir Badges Worn by Elks from All Over the World at Solomon's.

An interesting exhibit may be seen in one of the show windows of Solomon's Shoe Store to-day. Mr. Julius Lyon, of Lawrence, Kansas, who is here on a visit to his sisters, Mrs. S. Solomon and Mrs. B. Solomon, while at the Baltimore reunion recently made a collection of souvenir badges worn by Elks at that great gathering from all over the United States. There are more than 50 in the collection and Mr. Lyon is remembered by many Wilmingtonians, as he resided here prior to 1874. This is his first visit to the city since that year.

Operation for Appendicitis.

Master George Bowdoin, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bowdoin, No. 617 Red Cross street, was operated upon yesterday at the James Walker Memorial Hospital for appendicitis which developed upon his convalescence from an attack of continued fever. The surgeons in charge were Drs. Frank H. Russell, Jos. Akerman, Ed. J. Wood and Pride J. Thomas and at last accounts the little sufferer was doing remarkably well. Friends of the boy and his devoted parents hope that the operation will prove successful.

THE KENANSVILLE REUNION.

Duplin Confederates Had a Jolly Gathering Thursday—Speeches by Col. T. S. Kenan and J. O. Carr, Esq.

Brigadier General James I. Metts, of the Third N. C. Division, United Confederate Veterans, returned yesterday evening from Kenansville, where on Thursday he attended the annual reunion of Wm. J. Houston Camp, U. C. V., of Duplin. Capt. Metts said there was a large crowd in attendance and the exercises were most interesting. Capt. L. T. Hicks, commander of the camp, was master of ceremonies, and following a number of enthusiastic speeches the crowd repaired to "the oaks," where an old-time, bountiful basket pic-nic was enjoyed.

Col. Thos. S. Kenan, of Raleigh, was one of the principal speakers, and earnestly urged his hearers to a more careful preservation of our Confederate history. Another of the principal speakers was J. O. Carr, Esq., of this city, a loyal son of Duplin, who has done much toward the upbuilding of his county. Mr. Carr spoke upon the life of Stonewall Jackson and the Confederate Soldier. His address was eloquent, pleasing, and abounded in matters of great historical interest.

Capt. Metts modestly confessed that upon the conclusion of the exercises he yielded to calls for him to sing "I'm a Jolly Old Rebel" and it's dollars to doughnuts that he literally "brought down the picnic" with his rendition of that favorite air.

AN ENDLESS CHAIN SCHEME.

Local Representative Arraigned for Larceny by Trick—Dismissed.

Susan Sampson, colored, was arraigned in Justice Fowler's court yesterday on a charge of larceny by trick. The evidence was to the effect that the Sampson woman was the local representative of Moseley & Co., of Chicago, who operated something on the order of the endless chain system of buying goods with which the Wilmington public was so familiar a year or two ago, when silk skirts, shoes and other articles were being disposed of for a song, provided the purchasers would dispose of a few tickets among their friends entitling them to goods upon the original terms. The Sampson woman called at the home of Eula Abraham, colored, and sold her a ticket for $1.50 entitling her to a suit of clothes for her husband provided three other tickets were disposed of among the Abraham woman's friends. The prosecutor claimed that no conditions were attached to the sale and thereby was set up the charge of larceny by trick.

The defendant was represented by Herbert McClammy, Esq., who exonerated his client of the charge of larceny by trick. A case of false pretence was partially developed, but the evidence was so conflicting that probable cause could not be established and the woman was discharged.

Two Excursions Yesterday.

Two big excursions reached the city yesterday—one from Conway, S. C., and another from Elrod, via Chadbourn. On account of a break-down of the engine near Whiteville the latter did not reach the city until 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the visitors numbering about 450, having gone for a trip down the river on the steamer "Wilmington," returning to their homes at 8:30 o'clock last night. The train consisted of five coaches and was managed by Mr. N. A. Carter, of Raynham. The Conway excursionists reached the city about 11 o'clock, 450 strong. They went for a trip to Wrightsville Beach on the trolley cars, returning home last night about seven o'clock.

Last Two Performances,

To-day at 4 P. M. and to-night at 9 closes the engagement of the Juvenile Minstrels at The Casino and they leave Sunday morning to begin a tour of the Wells Circuit. The company is an exceedingly attractive one, being composed of twelve girls. The entertainment is novel and they have become great favorites. All those who have not seen them should avail themselves of the opportunity to day. There will be no theatrical offering at The Casino next week, but several dances will be given. Monday, the 17th, a strong bill will again be presented, particulars of which will be given later.

Real Estate Transfers.

By deeds filed for record yesterday E. N. Edens and wife transferred to Walter A. Taylor and wife, for $450, three-acre lot on east side of Bradley's creek, north of shell road and adjoining the lands of W. T. Rogers and others, and E. N. Edens and wife transferred to Walter A. Taylor, for $50, tract of land adjoining above. By another deed Geo. W. Herring and wife transferred to Eliza F. Fick, for $900, lot on south side of Church, 81 feet west of Seventh street, 25x108 feet in size.

REGISTERS ON TRIAL.

Columbus Superior Court Engaged in Investigation of Double Murder.

JURY SELECTED YESTERDAY.

All Day to Empanel Twelve Men from Special Venire of 250—History of the Crime Charged Against the Two Men—Other Notes.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

WHITEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 7.—The trial of H. B. Register and son, Jabel, for the murder of Jim Staley was called to-day at 10 o'clock at the special term of Superior Court for criminal cases only, Judge Moore presiding. The case has excited great interest in Columbus county and elsewhere as well. The interest was manifested by the great crowd of people here to-day. The court room was packed and many had to stand on the outside. The large number of witnesses in the case and the special venire of 250 men summoned nearly filled the room. The day was very warm and the court room was extremely so, but Judge Moore pushes business despite the heat.

The slow and tedious process of getting a jury was completed at 7 P. M. Then the jury was empaneled and court took a recess till 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The two Registers on trial at Whiteville are men of some influence and standing in the county. The elder was at one time a United States Commissioner and his son was at one time an assistant postmaster in Columbus.

The crime with which they are charged was committed on the night of March 29th and is one of the most atrocious in the criminal annals of the State. Cross Edmondson and another white man, who were arrested immediately after the murder and who are still in jail, made a confession implicating the Registers and warrants were at once sworn out for them, but they disappeared and were then outlawed, the Governor offering rewards of $300 each, on May 2nd, which led to their capture June 18th, near Vineland.

It will be remembered that Soles and Staley lived alone in an isolated house and were supposed to be moonshiners with about $1,000 on the premises. The men were murdered and robbed and the house burned down on their bodies. Edmondson says in his confession that on Saturday before the killing he met Jabel Register at Duvall's stables in Whiteville and he told him his (Register's) father wanted to see him at the house. Register's father, H. B. Register, told Edmondson he had a scheme to make money easy and wanted help; the way to get the money was to rob Staley who had at least $1,000. Register said "kill him if he flickers; he's only a nigger and the people want to get rid of him anyway." Edmondson said he got H. B. Register's gun; Jabel took his and they all went down in the vicinity of Soles' house, about ten miles from Whiteville; laid around until Sunday night when they went up to the house and Jabel shot them through the window; then going in the house and robbing the bodies. Edmondson said he did not know Jabel had set the house on fire until they had gone some distance.

FOXES ATTACKING PEOPLE.

New Species of the Reynard Type in Federal Point Township.

Sly and cunning are the adjectives used by writers of the fables and juvenile story books to describe the characteristics of the ordinary fox, but those terms do not apply to a new species of the animal just discovered in Federal Point township, this county. Usually a person begins a story about foxes or fish with an apology, but this is unnecessary in the present case, the report coming from Register of Deeds W. H. Biddle, who lives in the section where the new Reynard type is found, and who is not given to the vain imaginings of the ordinary hunter or fisherman.

Mr. Biddle says that within the past ten days in the Federal Point section eleven foxes have been killed in the act of attacking people. Some instances are reported in which the animals actually came into houses and "ran at" children, who were forced to seek refuge from threatened attack. Several have been killed under houses and one or two are reported as having been clubbed to death by pedestrians along the roadside.

The only theory advanced in explanation of the extraordinary conduct of the animals is that they are affected with hydrophobia, being of the feline tribe. That solution of the phenomena appears very plausible.

Cotton and Naval Stores.

The weekly statement of the receipts of cotton and naval stores at the port of Wilmington was posted yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce. Receipts were as follows: Cotton 12, spirits 634, rosin 1,547, tar 230, crude 802. Same week last year: Cotton 66, spirits 832, rosin 1,696, tar 591, crude 792. The receipts of naval stores for the crop year to date show a falling off in all items except crude in which there is an increase of about 2,000 barrels. Cotton receipts since Sept. 1st have been 328,053 bales against 258,119 bales during a corresponding period last year.

REV. W. M. VINES CALLED.

Has Been Asked to Become Pastor of the First Baptist Church Here.

The Rev. W. M. Vines, pastor of the First Baptist church of Asheville, N. C., has been called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Wilmington, to succeed Rev. Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell, who resigned some time ago to accept a wider field in Norfolk, Va., his old home. The call has been extended some time, but public notice was not given of the fact until it appeared in the Biblicql Recorder of this week.

Rev. Mr. Vines is at present spending his vacation in Chattanooga, Tenn., and has written that he will not make known his decision to accept or decline the call until he returns home, which will be in a few days. It is believed that Mr. Vines will accept. He recently visited the city and preached to the congregation. All were eminently pleased with him and Mr. Vines was apparently much impressed with the opportunities of the field here.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. VOIGT.

The Rev. Dr. Robert C. Holland, president of the Board of Trustees of the Mount Pleasant Lutheran Seminary, in writing an official report of the election of Dr. Voigt, of this city, to the presidency of the institution, says:

"It is believed that the voice of the board in the election of Dr. Voigt is the expression of the entire church. He will bring not only valuable experience and reputation for successful service in connection with the seminary in days of its unequal struggle for proper recognition, but a personal force as a theologian and instructor, as well as a wide acquaintance throughout our Southern church, and a sympathy with its genius and special needs. He has the confidence of all our synods, and will command the respect and affection of all the students. His attitude relative to questions which have commanded serious attention before district synods as well as the united synod has illustrated remarkable clearness of vision, and we feel sure that in the honorable office to which he has been elected he will vindicate the wisdom of the board which has united so harmoniously in the call."

WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 8.

GREEKS BEARING GIFTS.

Mr. Gorman's return from Europe has caused a very notable outburst of excitement in political circles. That was to have been expected. He is altogether the most important and conspicuous figure on the Democratic stage at this moment, and is, besides, a looming shape in the national arena itself. There have been booms, as the saying goes—big booms and little booms, fanciful, hysterical, solemn and maudlin—but, as Arthur P. Gorman sets his foot upon American soil once more, they shrivel and collapse. Thoughtful men of all parties realize that it is a question with the Democracy of common sense and a fighting chance or folly and inevitable defeat.

Quite the most interesting feature of the hullabaloo is the solicitude of the Republican and Mugwump organs as to the honor and welfare of the Democratic party. With equal anxiety and affection, they protest against the selection of a leader who does not represent all the moral and patriotic virtues of which they are the only genuine and authorized exponents. They are so jealous of the Democracy's good name that they suffer untold pangs at the thought of a Democratic standard-bearer who knows them for the humbugs they really are. And so they preach the splendor of defeat for a chimera as contrasted with the ignominy of success without their certificate of merit. The administration organ assures the Democrats that Mr. Gorman is weak with the best elements of his own party. The Mugwump minstrels twang the Mugwump lyre and sing of soft drinks, syllabub, and mush. But each in in its peculiar way fears and antagnizes Mr. Gorman.

The Post has no inclination to play the role of the Democratic Cassandra. As we see it, there is no occasion for the Trojan clairvoyant's passionate complaint, "Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes." Our Democratic fellow citizens are not quite fools, and only fools would be deluded by these poor, transparent comedies. Indeed, unless the defeats, the humiliations and the disasters of the past twelve years have hopelessly emasculated the organization and unfitted it for every function of command or rule or dignity, they will know without any suggestion from outside the ranks that an enemy's affectionate anxiety is but a call to vigilance. They will realize, much more clearly than any unconcerned observer can, that the man against whom Republicans and Mugwumps united in warning them is the man their adversaries most desperately fear. Whether Mr. Gorman will be their best and strongest candidate is a question they will have to decide for themselves. The day of judgment is not yet, and many things may happen in the interim. But it must be clear to every intelligent observer at this moment that Mr. Gorman is the object of the enemy's most carking apprehensions. And in our opinion the Democracy will be at no loss to put the proper construction upon that circumstance.—Washington Post.

THE PRICE OF COTTON.

Savannah News: A question that is attracting attention and becoming the subject of discussion is whether or not the price of cotton is higher than it will remain, provided the evidence is that the crop of the coming season is only an average one.

Of course those who are not on the bull side of the market insist that the scarcity of cotton is what has put up its price, and not the manipulation of speculators. It is true of course that if there had not been a scarcity of cotton the speculators wouldn't have been able to force the price up as high as they have, but there would have been a remarkable rise in the price even if there had been no speculation.

The indications now are that cotton growers are going to get an unusually high price for the crop of the coming season—the season beginning September 1st, but will a high price be of permanent benefit to the cotton growers? That is a question which no doubt many of them are now considering. At the present price there must be a very great advance in the prices of manufured cottons. The higher price will have the effect of limiting consumption. Mills will be running on half or two-thirds time because of the difficulty of getting rid of their product.

And there will pe another effect of the higher price of cotton. It will stimulate other nations to produce cotton in their possessions. Russia, Germany, Great Britain and France are now engaged in trying to make themselves independent of the United States in the matter of cotton. While in years gone by similar experiments have been made without very satisfactory results, it doesn't follow that experiments that are now being made will not be successful.

The high price of cotton therefore will have a tendency to do two things, namely, to lessen consumption of cotton goods and to increase the supply of raw cotton. The question which arises therefore is whether in the long run the abnormally high price of cotton is likely to be of permanent benefit to cotton growers.

If the present price of cotton could be maintained the South would soon become the richest agricultural section of the United States. Those who are taking a rosy view of the situation are insisting that the present price will be maintained and the South will get between $140,000,000 and $150,000,000 a year more for her cotton crop. Should their views of the situation prove to be correct, the prosperity of the South would be phenomenal.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Before we can hope to make much progress toward the settlement of the race problem it is evident that the colored brothor will have to be educated out of the belief that the razor constitutes the final and conclusive argument in all questions from a dispute over "craps" to an argument on the fifteenth amendment to the Federal constitution.—Chicago Chronicle, Dem.

—— "Our choice for President is Senator Gorman," said Representative Bankhead, of Alabama, to a representative of the New York Herald. "He satisfies all alike, thus consolidating the various factions of the party. It is the belief in the South that he can be elected if nominated. He is about the only man who is likely to carry New York State against President Roosevelt, and he has behind him the business strength of the country as well as the Southern and Western voters. He can, I am certain, have the Alabama delegation."

—— There seems to be no longer a doubt that the mosquito is a active agent in the transmission of malarial disease. For this reason there is greater solicitude as to the means of exterminating the pests. It is a mistake, however, to suppose that the mosquito is a creator as well as a carrier of malarial poison. To kill the mosquito is all right, and to make the killing as complete as possible, but to drain the swamps where the mosquito mainly breeds would be a much longer step in abating malarial poisoning. To cover the stagnating pools and marshes with petroleum is only a temporary expedient; it does not go to the root of the difficulty.—Philadelphia Record.

The story from Oklahoma of a two-year-old child being killed by a Plymouth Rock rooster reminds the Charlotte Observer of a tragedy in North Carolina, which it relates as follows:

"Many years ago a North Carolina judge or ex-judge—Judge Spencer, of Anson—was killed by a turkey. He was a very old man, and was sitting in the yard with a red skull-cap on his head. The red attracted the attention of the turkey and angered it, and it flew upon the wearer of the cap and pecked, spurred and beat him to death."

— Newbern Journal: In the neighborhood of Prescott's post-office, Beaufort county, the bears have been annoying the farmers by frequent attacks on their hogs. Sunday evening, a bear family raided the herd of Mr. Irving Bonner, and carried off what they wanted. Monday morning Mr. Bonner aroused a number of his neighbors and they started in pursuit of the marauders. After beating the brush for some time three bears were discovered, two had taken to trees, while the other one, the mother bear, had crouched near by to protect her offspring. Then the fun began. After practicing their markmanship on the head of bruin, a fatal shot was fired by one of the crowd of hunters and the hog eater stretched herself out in a last struggle. One cub was killed, the other one was captured alive. The she bear was quite a large specimen and the cubs were well on towards grown.

Cross section of Wheat kernel showing Gluten cells in starch.

The lean Meat of Wheat.

GLUTEN—is the prime muscle-making constituent of Wheat, and its flavoring principle.

Indiana Wheat is richest in Gluten, yet 60 per cent of even that best wheat is,—Starch.

Starch is a mere fat-former,—heating in Summer,—dyspeptic,—and a poor strength food.

PRESTO quick-flour is rich in Gluten, with only a low percentage of Starch, and is milled down to such unusual fineness, and uniformity, that it works into pastry twice as quickly, and twice as evenly, as other flours.

Because of this uniform fineness its tiny particles are promptly penetrated, and digested, by the Gastric juices of the stomach, being thus converted into strength long before ordinary flour starts conversion into fat.

Not six per cent. of American flour is equal to PRESTO in nutrition, flavor, and "keeping" qualities.

Yet Cake, or Pastry, made from it costs a trifle less than from common flour—as comparative recipes prove.

PRESTO needs no Baking Powder, and much less than other flours, of that costly and indigestible thing—"shortening."

Note relative costs in next ad.

INSTINCT IS THE TEACHER.

How the Young of the Feathered Tribe Are Educated.

There is a school of the woods, just as much as there is a church of the woods or a parliament of the woods or a Society of United Charities of the woods, and no more. There is nothing in the dealing of animals with their young that in the remotest way suggests human instruction and discipline. The young of all the wild creatures do instinctively what their parents do and did. They do not have to be taught; they are taught from the jump, says a writer in the Atlantic Monthly. The bird sings at the proper age and builds its nest and takes its appropriate food without any hint at all from its parents. The young ducks take to the water when hatched by a duck and dive and stalk insects and wash themselves just as their mothers did. Young chickens and young turkeys understand the various calls and signals of their mother the first time they hear or see them. At the first alarm note they squat; at a call to food they come on the first day as on the tenth. The habits of cleanliness of the nestlings are established from the first hour of their lives. When a bird comes to build its first nest and to rear its first brood, it knows how to proceed as well as it does years later or as its parents did before it. The fox is afraid of a trap before he has had any experience with it, and the hare thumps upon the ground at sight of anything strange and unusual, whether its mates be within hearing or not. No bird teaches its young to fly. They fly instinctively when their wings are strong enough.

Difference In Prayers.

Little Alice always said her prayers regularly before going to bed. One night, however, as she rested her head on the pillow she remarked, in a questioning way:

"Mamma, my prayers are so much longer than the one nurse says in the morning. Can't I say hers when I'm tired?"

"Does the nurse pray in the morning?" asked the mother with a puzzled look.

"Yes," said Alice sweetly. "She says, 'Lord, have I got to get up?'"—New York Tribune.

Liszt at Seventy-five.

Even at seventy-five Liszt was a pianist whose powers lay beyond the palo to which sober language or calm criticism could reach or be applied. Enough that its greatest charm seemed to me to lie in a perfectly divine touch and in a tone more remarkable for exquisitely musical quality than volume or dynamic force aided by a technique still incomparably brilliant and superb. —Hermann Klein in Century.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS

Their Life Is an Exciting One and Carries Many Responsibilities.

American visitors in Paris, Berlin or Vienna often wonder how and where correspondents do their work. The truth is a large part of their work is done at these very social gatherings where you have met them. Important news is usually there obtainable only. Statesmen and diplomats, generals and admirals, leaders of thought and action, the foremost men of business and the indefatigable promoters of great new ventures—all the men and women, in fact, who make the news and who are the fountain head of it—the correspondent will meet there. It depends on his individual exertions and on his tact and gift of persuasion what use he makes of his opportunities. Being treated as a social equal, it devolves of course on the correspondent to reciprocate favors shown, not in quantity perhaps, but at least in quality. The leading correspondents must have homes of comfort and must throw them open to the official and unofficial world at stated intervals, say three or four times per season. Their private fortunes or their incomes must be large enough to admit that. Their annual expenditures cannot be less than $5,000 and may exceed $15,000. The London Times, for instance, pays its correspondents on a liberal scale, salaries of $5,000 to $10,000 being the rule. Yet the majority of them find it necessary to make up regular deficiencies in their exchequer out of their own private funds.

The life of the American correspondent on the continent of Europe is a life interesting and fascinating enough in its way, and it broadens the mental horizon as perhaps no other occupation does. But it is a nerve destroying life, a life in which there is scarcely a minute he can call his very own. Every day in the year it spurs its slave on to utmost exertion. It barely pays expenses, and it necessitates constant outlays in time and money which cannot be put down in the expense account and which are a drain on health and purse alike. Even under the most favorable circumstances the game is hardly worth the candle. To go to bed at 2 or 3, fagged out with never ending excitement and toil; to be waked out of a sound sleep an hour later by a ring at the telephone or by inopportune cable inquiries from the home office; to dress hurriedly, take a cab to the nearest telegraph office and there wire a hasty reply; then to return and seek a few hours of fitful sleep and to rise morning after morning unrefreshed, with never repose for body and soul—all this is neither conducive to longevity nor to a quiet and contented mind.—World's Work.

Some Visual Measurements.

"When I watch a new building going up day by day from foundation to flagstaff," said the city salesman, "I get so muddled by the time it is completed that I cannot tell for the life of me whether it is fifty feet wide or 500 feet. So far as mere visual measurements go, the size varies so much in the course of construction that confusion is unavoidable. When the excavation for the foundation is in order, the hole in the ground seems so enormous that I could take oath it covers a ten acre lot. After the steel framework goes up the building shrinks amazingly, and I say to myself: 'Well, that isn't going to be such a big affair after all. How could my eyes have deceived me so when looking at the excavation?' But when the walls are finished and the windows in and the decorations all stuck in place the whole building swells out again prodigiously."—New York Times.

Some Foreign Coins.

The franc was formerly called livre (pound), though the connection with any special weight is not evident. The name of the German coin, mark, meaning a weight of eight ounces, was formerly in general use in Europe. The name of the Italian coin that corresponds with the franc (lira) also means pound. The coins in present use in Spain have their names from other sources.

The five peseta piece, which corresponds with the American dollar, is called escudo (shield). "Peseta," the name of the small coin representing the monetary standard, means simply "little piece." "Ruble" is from the word meaning "to cut," and was so called because originally the coin was made with an ornamental edge.

Highest Cross in the World.

The highest cross in the world is said to be that which caps the loftiest peak of the Hars mountains. The cross is in reality a tower, and it commands a magnificent view of the country around. The height of the tower is 120 feet, and it stands on a mountain 1,733 feet above the sea level. A stair of 200 steps leads to the top of the cross, but there is an elevator, of which the people avail themselves who for any reason wish to avoid the long climb.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, August 7.—The cotton market opened at a decline of three to seven points under realizing and further aggressive selling by the former New England bull leader, which was encouraged by the generally favorable weather reported over the cotton belt, and just after the opening was also stimulated by an easier turn in Liverpool, where prices at first were decidedly firmer. During the early session there were frequent rallies on covering and light supporting orders from New Orleans, and there was one interval of firmness after the initial losses, but this was of short duration and the market quickly resumed a downward tendency, which was continued until near the close. At this time prices were net nine to twenty-seven points lower, August having sold down from 11.60 to 11.38, September from 10.50 to 10.37, October from 9.89 to 9 80, December from 9.70 to 9.62 and January from 9.71 to 9.64, and these declines apparently proved attractive to room shorts, who started buying for profits, while August which had hitherto yielded readily to pressure, also suddenly became firm, under clique support. The close was steady with 11.50 bid for August and the balance of the list net seven to twelve points lower. Sales were estimated at 175,000 bales. Throughout the entire session the trading was almost entirely of a professional character.

ALL WRONG.

The Mistake Is Made by Many Wilmington Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache.

To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine relief is cure.

Backache is kidney ache.

You must cure the kidneys.

A Wilmington resident tells you how this can be done.

R. F. Rowan, clerk with L. W. Davis' Clothing House, residing on Castle street between Sixth and Seventh, says: "I strained myself lifting a heavy box, and suffered great pain across my back for a long time. I used plasters and liniments but they did me no good. I could hardly stand up straight, my back was so weak. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in our newspapers I went to Bellamy's drug store and got a box. I felt better the next day and continued using them according to directions and my back regained its old strength. I was simply surprised at the result. I will gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills every time for backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS)

Costs Only 25 cents at Druggists, Or mail 25 cents to C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., ST. LOUIS, MO.

Cures Cholera-Infantum, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, and the Bowel Troubles of Children of Any Age. Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels, Strengthens the Child and Makes TEETHING EASY.

OFFICE OF D. H. HARDY, Secretary of State, AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 21, 1900.

I have found Dr. Moffett's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my oldest boy was a teething child, every succeeding day warned us that we would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was marked in 24 hours, and from that day on he recuperated. I have constantly kept it and used it since with my children, and have taken great pleasure in sounding its praises to all mothers of young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed. MRS. D. H. HARDY.

SOME QUEER NAMES.

MAINE'S COAST ISLANDS AND THEIR PECULIAR DESIGNATIONS.

The Animal Kingdom, Household Articles and Shipping Terms Figure Conspicuously, and His Satanic Majesty Is Not Forgotten.

It would be almost impossible to epumerate the names of islands along the coast of Maine. They cover almost every article of household use, as well as gear pertaining to vessels. The animal kingdom figures conspicuously as well as his Satanic Majesty. Just how the names were derived no one seems to be able to determine. Some were named for early inhabitants squatting thereon and getting a living from the sea, others from incidents that have taken place to sailors and fishermen who have been their visitors.

Rutherford's island was named from the first minister who established a parish in Bristol, and owing to his salary, which was in arrears, the town gave him a title to the entire island. Heron island was up to recent years the home of a vast number of these birds, which came annually and made their nests in the top of the tall pines and spruces which lined the shores. Ram island was once the home of a fighting buck which disputed the right of any one to land there. Fishhawk island was once the favorite resting place of these keen eyed foragers of the sea.

Devil's Limb, Devil's Rock and Devil's Elbow represent the head fireman of the lower regions. Hog island was once inhabited by a thrifty number of these domestic adjuncts, which ran wild and lived on the snakes and mice, which were plentiful. Mouse island was once infested by these rodents, as are most of the other islands. They are a wood species and do not trouble human habitations. Just where they came from no one knows. They are found on islands far out from the shore. Squirrel island was once the home of a large colony of gray squirrels which came down to the seashore every seven years from the inland woods. Red squirrels are found on most of the islands and are not desirable residents, for they prefer to nest in unoccupied cottages.

Haddock island was so named from this useful little fish, which are caught in large quantities about its shores. Old Man and Old Woman were named by the fishermen from a supposed resemblance, Harpoon island from this implement, which was dug out of the sand there; Killickstone island because it contained these stones for the fishermen's use, Hungry island because of its barren condition. Gull island is the home of this sea bird, and its eggs, which abound there, were often gathered for eating purposes until Uncle Sam put a stop to it; High island for its wooded head that looks out over the surrounding country; Cow island was once used as a pasture, and the animals were transferred in scows; Thief island from a culprit who was captured there.

Damariscotta was named by the Indians, who made it a resort for powwows, Thrum Cup from its peculiar formation. Monehegan once during the war deserted by the white, the Indian chief landing there said, "Man he gone;" Two Bush island from two bushes that could be seen from the sea, Old Hump from its resemblance to a whale back, the Hypocrites from their deceiving ledges, which have lured many a vessel to destruction; Hatchet island from a stone ax used by the Indians and found there.

Witch island was known as "Stewart's" 200 years ago from a supposed owner. Two cellars and a stone wall are all the early history that is left. Fore island from the redoubt built there as a refuge from Indian attacks, Gangway island from its peculiar resemblance to this ship's article. Sequin island was so named by Mogg, chief of the Canibas tribe of Indians, who, discovering the white inhabitants trying to secrete themselves in a small cave on one side, said, "See go in."

Beaver island, in John's bay, from the English man-of-war named Beaver that anchored behind it and shelled the fort at Pemaquid. White islands are so named from the high bluff of feldspar that glistens in the sunlight, the Motions, off Booth bay, because they are always agitated, both at high and low water; the Washbowl from its general resemblance to this useful article, Peter's island from an early owner, known as the haunted island. Fishermen's has always been a favorite resort for the lobster catchers, Hen Cackle from the chickens once raised there, Turney island from its peculiar soil.

Needle's Eye is off Thrum Cap and forms the outer ledge of the Thread of Life. It is the most treacherous point on our shore, and many vessels have gone to pieces there. Various other names are found not far from here—Bulldog, Nigger, Kents, Fosters, Merry island, Little Gins and Skunks Misery. Many of these islands have peculiar stories associated with them.

Another reason for the name Mouse island is its outline, which certainly resembles a mouse extended, with its tail outstretched.—New York Telegram.

Materials For Bread.

Some of the many materials used for bread have been brought to notice by Paul Combes, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Beans, peas and other leguminous seeds, as well as maize and other vegetable substances, require mixing with wheat or rye, or the bread will be soggy and indigestible. Mashed potatoes with wheat or maize flour give palatable bread, which, however, attracts moisture. Rice flour makes fine yellow bread, agreeable both to sight and taste, and the chestnut bread that forms the chief food of the Corsican mountaineers is healthful, agreeable, digestible and keeps fifteen days or longer. Bread has been made from acorns. Mosses, dried and powdered, are still esteemed for bread by Norwegians. The roots of bryonia, colchicum, iris, serpentaria, mandragora and hellebore and the leaves of aconite are among the other substances of which bread has been made in time of great need.

That Blessed Baby.

"My dear," said a frightened husband in the middle of the night, shaking his wife, "where did you put that bottle of strychnine?"

"On the shelf next to the peppermint."

"Oh, Lord!" he groaned. "I've swallowed it!"

"Well, for goodness' sake," whispered his wife, "keep quiet or you'll wake the baby!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

FACTS ABOUT FOLKS.

In estimation of measurement men are more accurate than women.

Moral education in child life is more a matter of imitation than intellect.

Dull children are the most unruly, and unruly children are the dullest.

Sweet is tasted best on the tip of the tongue, sour on the edge and bitter at the base.

Mental images themselves constitute the motive, the springs of action for all we do.

Girls show less interest in material things than boys and admire the æsthetic more.

Those who have endured the most hardship in life are usually the least sensitive to pain.

Blushing comes from shyness and fear, is unnatural and morbid and is greater in women than in men.

Rapid readers do their work better, as well as in less time, and retain more of the substance of what is read than slow readers.

Watch Your Shoulders.

When standing before a looking glass, notice if your shoulders are the same height. Generally the right is higher than the left. The reason for this unevenness lies in the way one sits. You get into a comfortable chair at your desk, and at once you rest your right elbow on the arm of your chair or your desk, thus throwing one shoulder higher than the other. This is especially the case where one writes a great deal. When you notice that one shoulder is higher than the other, the thing to do is to change your way of sitting at your desk. Two simple exercises will be beneficial. The arm of the lower shoulder should be extended upward, the hand grasping a dumbbell. That of the higher shoulder should be lowered and made to support a heavy weight.

Suicide Prevented.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A run down system or despondency invariably precede suicide, and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nervine will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It is also a great Stomach, Liver and Kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by R. R. BELLAMY, druggist.

Dear Sir: This is the first certificate that I have ever given as to the merits of any medicine, but I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Biggers' Huckleberry Cordial. I consider it the best remedy that I have ever used in my family for Stomach and Bowel Troubles. 50c invested in a bottle of this medicine to be used in the beginning of any stomach trouble will often save life as well as a large doctor's bill. I have a friend whose life was, in my opinion, saved by the prompt use of Dr. Biggers' Huckleberry Cordial. For sale by all Druggists, 25 and 50c per bottle.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 8.

THE POPE RECEIVES CARDINAL GIBBONS.

His Holiness Renewed His Expressions of Interest in America—Sent the Apostolic Benediction to the Faithful.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

ROME, Aug. 7.—Cardinal Gibbons was received by the Pope to-day in private audience. In a lengthy conversation Pope Pius renewed his expressions of interest in America, already made manifest by his reception Wednesday to the pilgrims from the United States. The Pope said he should like to have had the cardinal remain in Rome for some time, that he might become thoroughly acquainted with all questions connected with the United States, but his Holiness did not insist, being aware he said of the cardinal's delicate state of health and his suffering from hot weather.

In closing the audience the Pontiff charged Cardinal Gibbons to carry the apostolic benediction to all the faithful in America.

After his private audience Cardinal Gibbons presented to the Pope the Rev. Dennis R. O'Connell, rector, and Father Charles P. Grannan, professor of theology at the Catholic university at Washington, and Father P. C. Gavan, the cardinal's secretary. The Pope spoke most affably to each, and said to Rector O'Connell that he knew the importance of the Catholic university at Washington and would do all possible to further its interest and prestige.

THE OUTBREAK IN MACEDONIA.

A Large Body of Armed Bulgarians Routed by the Turkish Troops With Artillery.

PEOPLE FLED TO MOUNTAINS.

Advices at Constantinople Conflicting It Is Believed That the Insurrection Broke Out Earlier Than Its Leaders Intended.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

SOFIA, BULGARIA, Aug. 7.—The fresh insurrectionary outbreak in Macedonia, which was believed to be impossible, has produced a sensation everywhere. It is believed that the latest provocations by the Turkish troops drove the insurrectionists to despair. The Bulgarian government resolved to maintain friendly relations with the Porte and to prevent bands from crossing the frontier, but a popular movement is feared in the event of massacres of peaceful Macedonians by the Turkish soldiery.

Meetings of prominent Macedonians were held here yesterday and to-day and measures for succoring the sufferers from the insurrection were discussed, but no decision was reached.

SALONICA, Aug. 7.—Four battalions of Turkish troops, supported by artillery, yesterday met and routed a body of 1,700 Bulgarians near Sorovitch.

SALONICA, Aug. 7.—A band of 300 insurgents has appeared near the railway bridge over the river Vardar, two hours distant from this city. The great fodder departments at Samanli Aydirli and Harmanli have been burned.

CONSTANTINOPE, Aug. 7.—News received here as to the extent of Bulgarian revolutionary movement on the Vilayet of Monastir is conflicting. In consular dispatches from Monastir which were received this morning the opinion is expressed that the insurrection broke out a fortnight earlier than its chief intended and before the bands were in readiness, presumable because the leaders were disconcerted by the active preventive measures adopted by the authorities.

The Bulgarian inhabitants in a number of villages have fled to the mountains for refuge. The railways have asked that the troops guarding the lines of railway be quadrupled, but this would entail the employment of 20,000 soldiers and in view of the impoverished treasury the government will find it difficult to comply with the request.

The Porte has sent categorical instructions to the valis of the Armenian provinces of Asia Minor, holding them personally responsible for any Kurdish excesses and ordering that vigorous measures be taken to prevent fighting. A consular dispatch from Erzeroum received here this morning says the excitement in that district is quieting down, but that the vali of Erzeroum reports that 600 armed Huitchakists from Russian territory have compelled the Armenians in the village of Sassan Vilayet to take refuge in the mountains. The vali has sent four battalions of troops against the Huitchakists who escaped to the mountains

THE DEWEY DEFALCATION.

Total Amount Reaches $125,000—Some of It Lost Gambling in Cotton Futures—Reward Offered.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWBERN, N. C., Aug. 7.—The shortnage of Thomas W. Dewey, absconding cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of this city, proves to be $125,000, said to be the largest embezzlement in the history of the State. The reward for Dewey's capture has been increased to $5,000. Dewey left only $1,300 is cash in the bank, one thousand of it in gold.

Gambling in cotton futures is one way in which the money went. For a time he very skillfully hid his embezzlements by false entries. July 29th, State Bank Examiner Ellington examined the bank and as the books indicated irregularities he immediately made inquiries of their correspondents and the first reply received disclosed a shortage of $10,000. Examiner Ellington returned to Newbern at once and wired the other banks, asking their balances. It was thought at first by the directors and the examiner that the shortage would not exceed $30,000, but when replies to telegrams showed a shortage of $69,000 in the accounts, the bank was compelled to suspend. The shortage has steadily increased to $125,000.

Cashier Dewey, anticipating the disclosures, left Newbern Saturday evening, ostensibly on personal business to return Monday. He was last heard from on a Seaboard Air Line train going north, from which he mailed letters to his brother, Charles Dewey, of Goldsboro and to Governor Aycock, telling of his shortage, expressing great regret for his betrayal of the trust reposed in him and saying he was leaving for parts unknown. Mr. Ellington finished his work to day and turned the books over to Receiver Thomas Daniels, who will proceed to settle the affairs of the defunct bank.

Dewey is five feet six inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, is of dark complexion, with dark hair and eyes and was smooth shaven when he left here.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Profit Taking and Further Liquidation Caused Recessions in All the Active Stocks.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Yesterday's late improvement in the stock market was continued at to-day's opening, no little encouragement coming from London, where prices for Americans were generally higher. The better tone was not long sustained, however, profit-taking and further liquidation for weak accounts causing recessions in all the active stocks till in many instances prices went below yesterday's closing.

Part of the liquidation was in Virginia-Carolina Chemical, which was freely offered at a slight advance. It is known that one prominent Stock Exchange house closed out loans for at least two banking houses. Indications point to a continuance of these tactics for a time to come. In the absence of any marked buying power the list sold off more or less irregularly all through the morning session.

All of yesterday's gains, with few exceptions were wiped out by noon, and the undertone of the market was heavy. The demand for stocks was extremely light, in fact, there was next to none.

LIEUT. GEN. MILES ISSUES AN ADDRESS

On the Eve of His Retirement from Active Service—Order Goes Into Effect To-day—Other Orders Issued.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Lieutenant General Nelson A Miles, commanding the army, will retire from active service at noon to-morrow, having reached the age limit of 64 years.

The following order was prepared to-day and will be issued to-morrow:

"The retirement from active service by the President August 8, 1903, of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, United States army, by operation of law, under the provisions of the act of Congress, approved June 30, 1882, is announced. Lieutenant General Miles will proceed to his home. The travel enjoined is necessary for the public service."

Several other orders resulting from the retirement of General Miles have been issued, one assigning Lieutenant General Young to the command of the army until August 15, when he will assume the duties of chief of staff; another assigning Major General Corbin as president of the soldiers' home board; another, Brigadier General Gillespie as president of the board of ordnance and fortification; and still another, assigning Lieutenant General Young as a member of the Sherman statue commission.

General Miles has issued an address upon the occasion of his retirement from active service, in which he says:

"The time and occasion are considered opportune for expressing to the army a few thoughts concerning its past and that which may affect its future welfare. It is from the best impressions and influences of the past that the most desirable results may be realized in the future.

"Unswerving devotion to our government and the principles upon which it was established and has been maintained is essential to the efficiency of the national forces, and especially is this so in a democratic government where the individual, in order to be a perfect soldier, must first be a true citizen. The boast that every soldier of a great nation carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack is in a higher sense more than equalled in significance by the fact that every American soldier personifies impartial justice to those who have never experienced it, and the results of the highest liberty to those who have been strange to it, thereby aiding to secure for his country a moral influence not otherwise attainable.

"The events of recent years have placed upon the army a new obligation and an opportunity for a broader exemplification of its country's principles. The United States army is now brought into daily communication with millions of people to whom its individual members of every grade are the exponents of American civilization. A serious duty and a great honor are now presented to every officer and soldier, namely to exemplify to the people with whom he comes in contact our country's principles of equal and exact justice, immunity from violence, equality before the law and the peaceful use and possession of his own.

"The lieutenant general has faith that under all circumstances the army will maintain its high character and that its future will be as honorable and glorious as has been its history in the past. His earnest solicitude and best wishes will ever follow the fortunes of the army."

THE GERMAN AMBASSADOR.

Baron Von Sternburg Formally Presented His Credentials Yesterday to President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Sagamore Hill, President Roosevelt's country home, was the scene to-day of an interesting ceremony. Baron Speck Von Sternburg, who has been minister plenipotentiary of Germany to the United States since Ambassador Von Holleben returned to Europe and who recently, on the retirement of Mr. Von Holleben was elevated to the rank of ambassador, presented to the President his credentials as ambassador and was received formally in his new diplomatic rank by President Roosevelt.

The German ambassador said in part:

"I place this my credential letter in your hands with the assurance that it shall be my most earnest endeavor to cultivate, promote and develop the relations of friendship which have so long existed, without the slightest interruption, between Germany and the United States. I trust, Mr. President, that you will kindly second my efforts, and thus facilitate the fulfillment of my important mission."

President Roosevelt replied:

"Your knowledge of the American government and people, gained during your several periods of residence here as a diplomatic agent of Germany and the pleasant relations which have existed between youself and the executive officers of this country, lend added weight to the assurance of your desire and endeavor to advance and strengthen the relations of amity which have been maintained so long and unbrokenly between the United States and Germany, and will enable you moreover to appreciate at its full weight the reciprocal assurance which I gladly offer of the equal wish and purpose of this government to promote in all practicable way the fulfillment of your mission."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the President and Ambassador Von Sternburg, as old friends, chatted animatedly. The ambassador will be the unofficial guest of the President until sometime to morrow.

It was stated authoritatively to day that the reception by the President of the German ambassador at Sagamore Hill is not to be regarded as a precedent, although it is the first time in the history of the country that an ambassador has presented his credentials to the President outside of Washington.

TROUBLE THREATENED

Between Whites and Negroes at Henrietta, a Mill Town Near Charlotte.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 7.—Serious trouble between negroes and whites is threatened at Henrietta, the location of one of the largest cotton mills in North Carolina. Otis Bird and Virgil Cudd, negroes, were cut last night and the former will die. The cause of the trouble was the alleged disturbing of a colored meeting by whites and the cursing of a white boy by a negro. An armed crowd of negroes was dispersed by the extra force of policemen on duty, but more trouble is expected.

FATAL COLLISION OF CIRCUS TRAINS.

Twenty-three Persons Killed and Twenty Others More or Less Seriously Injured.

WALLACE BROTHERS CIRCUS.

Accident at Durand, Mich., in the Early Morning—Engineer Says Airbrakes Failed to Work—One Elephant and Two Camels Killed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

DURAND, MICH., Aug. 7.—Twenty-three persons were killed in a collision early to-day in the Grand Trunk yards, between two sections of Wallace Brothers' circus train. Seven of the dead are in the morgue, unidentified. Only twenty were more or less seriously injured. Coroner Farrer this afternoon impanelled a jury which viewed the remains and adjourned until August 14, when the inquest will be held. Following are the dead:

James McCarthy, train-master, Grand Trunk road between Port Huron and Battle Creek; A. W. Large, special officer Grand Trunk, Battle Creek; John Purcell, Peru, Ind., boss canvasman; Lafe Larson, Cambridge, Ohio, six-horse team driver; G. Thomas, residence unknown, member of stake and chain gang; Harry St. Clair, residence unknown, reserved seat man; John Leary, Springfield, Ills., boss of ring stock; Andrew Howland, New York State, canvasman; Frank Thorp, Dundee, Mich., trainmaster of circus train; Robert Rice, residence unknown, harness-maker; George Smith, residence unknown, blacksmith; James Toffelmire, Orient, Ia.; Charles Sands, Peru, Ind., driver; Joe Wilson, Pittsburg; W. J. McCoy, Columbus, O., canvasman with side show; Edward York, Terre Haute, Ind.; unknown man, driver of band wagon; unknown man, home said to be in Indianapolis, rider in circus races; unknown man, home said to be in Louisville, four-horse driver; unknown man, four-horse driver; unknown man, suffocated to death; two unidentified men are also dead at the hospital.

James S. Foley, of Detroit, special officer of the Grand Trunk, was seriously injured and J. J. Meadow, of Anderson, S. C., was also among the injured.

The circus travels in two trains of about thirty-five cars each. After last night's exhibition at Charlotte the two trains left for Lapeer over the Grand Trunk road, the second section leaving a half hour after the first. It was 3:45 o'clock when the first section pulled in to the west end of the Grand Trunk yards here. A red light was hung on the rear car to stop the second section. Engineer Probst, of Battle Creek, who was running the engine of the rear train, says he saw this light and applied the air brake. He says it refused to work. He reversed his engine, but the momentum of the heavy train behind was too great and with a crash that aroused all of the town near the yards, the two trains met. Three cars of the stationary first section were telescoped and the engine and five cars of the moving train were demolished. The rear car of the first section was a caboose in which the trainmen were sleeping, and the next two were filled with sleeping circus employes. The greatest loss of life was in the caboose.

One of the wrecked cars of the second section was occupied by five elephants and several camels. One of the elephants and two camels were killed outright, while the other animals and their trainer escaped. With the exception of this car, none of the menagerie was wrecked, the other demolished cars containing canvas or wagons and there was comparatively little excitement among the wild animals. As soon as they recovered from the first shock, the trainers rushed among the cages quieting the few beasts that were excited. The elephants in the wrecked car behaved with surprising calmness, and were led out of the wreck without trouble.

The escaping steam and screams and cries of those pinned in the wreck made a horrifying spectacle in the gray of the early morning, when the train run in the yards, and the aroused towns people first reached the scene. Many feared at first that some of the menagerie had escaped, as some of the animals could be heard crying. The fire whistle was immediately sounded and the whole town was aroused. The rescuers could see the unfortunates through the tangled wreckage and went furiously to work without waiting for tools to extricate them. A wrecking crew is kept in the yards here and it was on the scene in a very few minutes, bringing tools and equipment in plenty. All the physicians and trained nurses in town were sent for and those in near by places were rushed to the scene in hand cars. The Hotel Richelieu was converted into a temporary hospital and scores of volunteers with stretchers were in readiness to carry the injured there as fast as the rescuers could extricate them. The dead, many of them so terribly mangled that identification seemed well nigh impossible, were carefully laid on the green sward a short distance from the scene.

Engineer Probst, Fireman Colter and head Brakeman Benedict, who was also on the engine of the second section, all agree that if the brakes had work as they ought to have when the engineer tried to use them there would have been no collision.

Fireman Colter and Brakeman Benedict when they saw that a collision could not be averted jumped. Engineer Probst remained at his post, vainly trying to get the brake to work until his train was within less than a hundred feet of train No. 1. Then he too jumped, when he was within but a very few seconds of sure death in the crash. He was, of course, shaken up as was the fireman and brakeman, but not badly. None of the crew of either train was hurt. At the time the crash occurred train No. 2 was running probably fifteen miles an hour.

In discussing the responsibility for the horror the railroad officials unhesitatingly lay it to Engineer Probst, of the second section of the train, whose home is in Battle Creek. Probst says that the airbrake on his train refused to work but the officials declare that he could have stopped the train in time to have avoided serious consequences. General Manager F. H. McGuigan said this afternoon:

"Probst knew that he was coming into a yard where our trains usually stand and take on water. The rules say plainly that engineers shall approach such yards with their engines under control. A brakeman sent back by the first train warned him of the danger three-quarters of a mile before he got to the standing section. For nearly half a mile before he got to the first train the track is straight and clear and he should have been able to see the red lights on the back of the train ahead in time to stop his train. Of course, he like any one else, will try to avoid such dreadful responsibility."

The official report on the accident issued by Superintendent Brownlee declares positively that the airbrakes have been tested since the accident and found to be in perfect condition and there is evidence that they were not applied.

One of the officials in discussing the accident and its cause, said that he believed that Engineer Probst had exhausted his air in checking his train several times between Lansing and Durand, and failed to again charge his tank. The head brakeman and fireman who were on the engine, bear out Engineer Probst's statement that the brakes refused to work.

The bodies of the dead have been placed in caskets and are being shipped to their homes as rapidly as possible. The injured who are still here at the temporary hospital in the hotel Richelieu are those suffering from lesser hurts, the seriously wounded being removed to Detroit this afternoon.

The Grand Trunk tracks have been cleared and the officials of the road place their loss at $4,700.

DUN'S REVIEW OF THE TRADE SITUATION.

Nearly Every Section Shows as Favorable Condition as a Year Ago--Bright Prospects for the Fall Trade

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, August 7.—R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow will say:

Trade advices from nearly every section continue to show as favorable conditions as a year ago, and in many lines the volume of transactions has increased. Jobbers report Fall business opening with excellent prospects, and manufacturing plants are well occupied, with the exception of cotton mills. Distribution of merchandise is so heavy that railway equipment already proves inadequate, although crops are not the factor that they will be in a few weeks. Earnings for July exceeded last year's by 12.7 per cent., and those of 1901 by 20.2 per cent. On the whole, news from the farms is less favorable, but no serious curtailment is assured, and many sections make very bright reports. A decline of 1.5 per cent. in cost of commodities during July is evidence that prices are less inflated, since this was mainly in meats and other foods which have been ruling at an abnormal position.

No change is noticed in the attitude of cotton goods buyers who appear determined to postpone business until the readjustment of prices for raw material. Owing to the graduaf reduction in mill stocks there is a similar disposition to delay undertaking new contracts and the result is a further addition to the idle machinery. In view of the comparative steadiness of retail prices and the activity in dry goods trading at many points, it is evident that stocks in other than first hands were larger than was believed when the speculative advance began. Although jobbers report bright prospects for Fall trade, it is remarkable that they make so little effort to secure forward deliveries.

There were 178 commercial failures this week in the United States against 196 the corresponding week last year.

Treasurer of a Preachers' Aid Society in Boston Confesses to Embezzling More Than $80,000.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BOSTON, MASS., August 7.—In a letter written last Tuesday from Montreal to the pastor of his church in East Boston, Willard S. Allen, treasurer of the Preachers' Aid Society of the New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, confessed that he was a defaulter to the amount of more than $80,000 of the society's funds.

Mr. Allen has been treasurer of the society for twelve years and clerk of the East Boston District Court for twenty-nine years and for sixteen years was a prominent member of the school committee of Boston. He left home about a week ago without announcing his destination, and the first heard from him was the letter to the East Boston clergyman. Mr. Allen said that he had lost the money in speculation. He requests the minister to notify the members of Allen's family and the officers of the society of his confession.

The boiler of the Minnesota Lumber Company, at Cutting, Ga., exploded yesterday, killing "Scrap" Grace, colored, and badly injuring four white men and three negroes. Every man in the mill was hurt.
